Wordpress Blogs Provides Free Website Traffic

I want to share with you how three of my wordpress blogs provide me thousands of unique visitors and page views each and every month. Plus it grows each month as well. Why? Because once the many search engines index's your blog then there is an ongoing path for others to find it on the internet.

I started my first blog April 2009 and I used Google Blogger. Google Blogger is free and will get you started if you're on a low budget. In June of 2009 I upgraded to hosting my Wordpress blog actually on Host Gator, but the following month I saw the Pre-launch of GVO and I knew I should put my money in GVO and get all the tools that they offered plus the 2x10 compensation plan. Money well spent...

I have three blogs I use for internet marketing:

<http://gvoguru.com>

<http://scottgordonblog.com>

All are hosted on GVO. I purchased my domain names from Go Daddy for $8 to $12 a year. The Wordpress Themes are free downloads and there are hundreds to choose from. But once you get into Wordpress you will see so many different options you can use widgets to integrate with My Space, Facebook, Twitter, etc.

But when you do it on Wordpress it is your's. No one is going to review it down the road and shut it off or change the T&C's and lock it up. But if you have no budget then start with Google Blogger.

Now I use a plugin called Statpress. It is a free plugin download. I actually just downloaded in around Thanksgiving and really do like what it tells me about what people are looking at on my blog. Also it tells me what key words were searched on from the search engines. As well as what spiders are crawling on my blog.

I hope my video will give you an idea of how much traffic you can get with these Wordpress blogs. They become mini-websites and can over time create thousands of visits to your site. Your wordpress blog is where you need to be advertising your opportunity. Don't try to take a replicated website like thousands of other Tadalafil SX people may have and think you have a chance to get it published in Google or any other search engine. That just is not going to happen. But take a wordpress blog and put content on it and it will be on many pages of Google as well as other search engines.

To Your Online Success,
